"Winnipeg Free Press" Journalist Uncovers Identity of Winnipeg Recruiter For Violent Hate Group

It has been hard to keep up with all the information coming out about the far-right in Canada and internationally, especially those related to the more underground and violent movements that have come into existence during the past few years. The tragedy in El Paso and the arrest of a man in Las Vegas who appears to have been planning a similar attack has made the danger posed by the far right much more clear.

The Las Vegas suspect, whose plans look to have been known of and perhaps assisted by the international members of the Atomwaffen-affiliated Feuerkrieg Division, also had a connection to a Barrie, ON man who was profiled on the blog. And earlier this month ARC and other groups became aware of another violent, and perhaps more dangerous, group in Canada:

Mission Statement

A group of diverse but like-minded individuals, the members of ARC have come together in their common desire to fight hatred, bigotry, intolerance and violence because of the harm these antisocial behaviors cause to our society. In that effort, we will not use or sanction the use of illegal actions (such as violence or intimidation) in pursuit of our desired aims and if we learn of anyone who does use these unethical methods we will report those individuals to the authorities. Instead, we will use the guarantees found in the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms that ensure freedom of legal speech and expression.

The screen shot comes from the now deleted Gab profile for The Base, a secretive hate group that has been recruiting members in the United States, engaging in survivalist and combat training, and preparing to attack targets with the goal of helping to create conditions for a societal collapse from which their members and like minded individuals will emerge to create their vision of a whites only society. Those considered undesirable -- racial minorities, Jews, Muslims, LGBTQ -- as well as white who don't subscribe to the racist ideology and are thus deemed traitors, would be eliminated.

As journalists Mack Lamoureux and Ben Makuch noted in a Vice story published Friday morning The Base is also now active in Canada:

Been monitoring The Base (neo-Nazi extremists): evidence shows it's recruiting across the US and Canada and already undertaking live-fire paramilitary camps. One set of images shows them shooting a target with the Star of David. <https://t.co/JuqL8szqTY> w @MackLamoureux for @VICE
— Ben Makuch (@BMakuch) August 16, 2019

Those of us who keep an eye on hate groups were already aware that groups like The Base could be active in Canada and we had seen some indications of some level of paramilitary activity. It wasn't until the posters started showing up that it was confirmed however:

These posters started showing up in Winnipeg and Saskatchewan earlier this month. Myself and groups such as Yellow Vests Canada Exposed, FF1, and the Canadian Anti-Hate Network (among many others) have been trying to figure out who might be responsible. On Friday Ryan Thorpe of "The Winnipeg Free Press" published a story detailing how he was able to gain access to the group and learn the identity of the Winnipeg recruiter:

Homegrown hate on the front of Saturday's @WinnipegNews #wfp pic.twitter.com/VTG7IYPGjf
— Winnipeg Free Press (@WinnipegNews) August 17, 2019

Online, he goes by the names Dave Arctorum and coincidence detector (a reference to a Google Chrome extension used by anti-Semites to identify Jewish-sounding names in news articles).

He said his real first name was Patrick and that he was 26 years old. He said he grew up in the countryside and at some point lived in Winnipeg, but now resides in Beausejour. He later said his father owned land near Lundar.....Recently, he's begun putting up flyers that attempt to intimidate and threaten local anti-fascist activists.

He claimed to have joined the military out of high school, training as a combat engineer, but indicated he plans to leave the military soon because he feels he can no longer serve the ZOG.During his years in the military, he said he tried to turn other soldiers onto neo-Nazism and felt he had made progress with two individuals.

Patrick also revealed that in addition to his social-media accounts, which promote his political views, he set up multiple other accounts to spread misinformation among local anti-fascist activists.

At one point in the conversation, which lasted roughly an hour-and-a-half, he said in a well-ordered society such activists would be dragged out of their homes and strung up. He also discussed plans to find the addresses and phone numbers of these people and post them publicly..... At this point it is the system that is fomenting armed (white nationalist) revolution, not us. We tried the peaceful route. The system closed it off at every turn. Now the system shall reap what it has sown. I'll leave it at that, he wrote.

While we don't know Patrick's Patrick's last name, ARC and others did learn at least a few of Patrick's online identities including this one:

Patrick, the neo-Nazi terrorist group member, says "social media will be a wonderful record for figuring out what surviving whites get the rope." The first three accounts Patrick followed on Twitter are us, @ARCCollective and @ebalgord. For context: rope = murder by hanging.
— Canadian Anti-Hate Network (@antihateca) August 17, 2019

Using this and a few other Twitter profiles (including three profile set up to look like they were antifascists) Patrik followed ARC, CAHN and it's head, YVCE, FF1, and others. Most of us blocked these profiles though that certainly doesn't preclude Patrik from creating new accounts. He also followed a number of other accounts that are rather telling:

Before blocking Patrik I made a point of getting screen shots of all his tweets and replies. They provide an understanding of the mindset of an individual who adheres to a racist and violent vision of society and why such groups and individuals, while perhaps small in number, pose a real danger to the community. Here are a representative sample:

 · Aug 5
What ACTUALLY happens when a hate site is deplatformed:

- its less-invested users give up & aren't nazified
- its nazis go somewhere more obscure
- would-be nazi recruits don't find the obscure site
- recruitment by the nazis tanks.

tldr: FEWER NAZIS.

 Gim @Gimfigle · Aug 5
#untwitter8chan is such a fruitless endeavor. Those types of people don't make up everyone on those sites and it certainly wouldn't stop them from posting. If 8chan goes down, they'll just go somewhere else. I just don't see the point. It's such a waste of effort and hot air.

Something that will come to pass, regardless of how much conditioning and propaganda is given to whites, is the mass radicalization of racially conscious white men. No group is more antagonized, demonized and literally economically exploited than them.

 the sober philosopher @thesoberphilos1 · Aug 6

Replying to @thesoberphilos1

The system seeks to disarm white men, tax them further, make the option of driving a truck a luxury (the real purpose of carbon/gas taxes) and make rural life unliveable. The system has ruined generations of women and made them indirectly infertile through demonizing motherhood.

Couple this with ramping cost of living and sharp increases in housing costs (to which non-whites get incentives and subsidies to offset) and it is exceedingly difficult to have more than a few kids. Then you have the forced introduction of non-whites, which furthers this effect.

 the sober philosopher @thesoberphilos1 · Aug 6

The system and the elite have sold out our future and are trampling over us every day and a few men decide enough is enough and they call WN's the aggressors, and even their ideologues believe this bunk. These people will keep pushing the car toward the cliff, they are insane.

And lastly let's consider the following. The election of Trump was an attempt at reforming the system. This was denied. The rallies at Charlottesville were an attempt at the beginnings of a peaceful political movement. These were denied. We are not being allowed to have any power

 the sober philosopher @thesoberphilos1 · Aug 6

At this point it is the system that is fomenting armed WN revolution, not us. We tried the peaceful route. The system closed it off at every turn. Now the system shall reap what it has sown. I'll leave it at that.

 the sober philosopher @thesoberphilos1

So a few thoughts on Antifa and their ilk. They often can summon legions of supporters on a dime because they utilize the people Marx described as a labour reserve. These people are not usually Antifa members or even communists but are just trendy hipsters or degenerates.

These people as well are all too often either wealthy or employed in some white colour job. They either are the bourgeoisie or the friends of it. They are if anything the upper class. As well they have no consequence for either the associations they make or often their actions.

They as a group are despised by working class white people (not even right wingers) and are held in contempt. The average working class white man will joke about beating them up if given the chance. They are protected by the elite and often receive sympathy from politicians.

1 Like

 the sober philosopher @thesoberphilos1 · Aug 9

This sympathy is often simply because the politician wants to oppose fascists but has no idea he's supporting literal communists. And then that brings us to what really is strange, their ideology and how it plays out in practice.

1 Like

 the sober philosopher @thesoberphilos1 · Aug 9

They believe that their ideal society of a stateless, classless utopia will come about if they implement gun control, open the borders, promote LGBTBBQ rights, multiculturalism, etc, without realizing everything they're being told to think is exactly what rich elites want.

1 Like

 the sober philosopher @thesoberphilos1 · Aug 9

They are in this respect the opposite of revolutionaries. They are little more than programmed robots, doing whatever their elite masters tell them. But then there's the fact of the largest glaring weakness they have. It is safe and easy to be an Antifa supporter and member.

Make their leadership out to potentially be some of the worst scum of the earth, and if you can find criminal records or sex offences all the better. Then dox several of their supporters. Repeat. Make them feel scared, this will make the first wave of cowards flee.

Once they lose a bit of numbers, don't hold rallies, go visit them at their homes at three in the morning and sell them a glass of lemonade so to speak. Visit their workplace, have a fun and cordial talk. Oh, also just a side note, potatoes fit very neatly into tailpipes.

In other words, make them afraid. Make it hard to be in Antifa and watch them go from hundreds to a handful. As for the elites, well to paraphrase a great man, "they have names and addresses." I'll leave it at that.

Patrik didn't use this profile long. He started it on August 5 and hasn't posted anything since August 9. He then started using a second profile, PunishedPhilosopher I'll remind readers that Patrik claims to be a member of the Canadian Forces. It has also been suggested his Saskatchewan counterpart is also a member of the CF.

If anyone has more information about The Base and their members, please feel free to contact us.
